

Editorial Standards

Threadline Media Group Editorial Code.

Threadline Media Group commits to:

1. Accuracy First

We check facts twice before publishing. If we are wrong, we correct it fast and clearly at the top of the story.

2. Independence

No political party, advertiser, or source tells us what to write. We disclose conflicts if they exist.

3. Fairness and Right to Reply

Anyone accused of wrongdoing gets a chance to respond before we publish. "No comment" will be stated.

4. Sources

We protect source identity if safety is at risk. Anonymous sources are used only when the information is vital and we have verified it two other ways.

5. Privacy and Dignity

We do not publish names of rape or GBV survivors, minors in trouble, or patients without consent. Public interest overrides privacy only in extreme cases.

6. Harm vs Public Interest

We weigh harm before publishing. If information will not help the public but will hurt someone, we do not publish.

7. Corrections

Mistakes happen. We fix them and tell readers what changed and why. Email: info@tmgnews.co.za

Complaints

Threadline subscribes to the Press Council of SA Code. Complaints can be lodged through the T.M.G NEWS complaints page: <https://tmgnews.co.za/complaints>
